

DERMATOLOGY CODING COURSE AT A GLANCE

There's no prior coding experience needed to begin this unique, one-of-a-kind course. This course is designed for new employees, providing compliance education and can also be utilized as a great training tool for existing staff.

This self-study, self-paced course is the first national certification course established in 1997 created and designed to educate and test individuals involved in billing, coding, and claims processing. We designed the course so that staff and providers can understand the nuances of dermatology coding! The course will teach students how to correctly and accurately code for dermatologic services. Physicians, NPs, billing staff, and office managers should consider this unique certification credential. Such certification may help in reducing audits and optimizing third party reimbursement legally and ethically.

CERTIFICATION

Once the student has completed and successfully passed the tests for all 14 Modules, they will be eligible for the final certification exam. Students that successfully pass the final exam will become credentialed as a Certified Dermatology Coder (CDC™). Your credential as a Certified Dermatology Coder is valid for two years. After two years, IEPG requires that all graduates re-certify by taking an updated exam with questions pertinent to the changes that have occurred since the previous certification and to reinforce course fundamentals. The re-certification exam and study materials are delivered on CD-ROM and the test may be taken on-line or via mail.

35 CEUs from AHIMA will be issued for successful completion of the Course. Partial credit CEUs are available for completion of certain modules.
